To Those Who Guide

You listened to our theories
And answered all our queries
You showed us how to wire
Door-bell cells in series.

You instructed us in English,
Algebra and typing;
And all this time received from Us
An accredited course in griping.

And though you swept the mist
Away
From chemistry and history;
I fear we must confess—
To most,
Physics was a mystery.

You guided us and showed us
How
To read in French and milk a cow;
And though you got a little preachy,
Honest, pedagogues—
We think you're peachy.

Superintendent J. John Halverson

J. John Halverson, superintendent of schools, had the great responsibility of managing all school affairs and projects. Under his guidance, students grew in knowledge as well as in friendliness and loyalty.

Mr. Halverson did his best to help make every today a worthwhile tomorrow. When one entered school until graduation, there was always a helping hand and encouragement. Through his unfailing faithfulness our heritage of culture grew rapidly.

Forrest L. Willey, principal of the senior high school, was kept busy helping the students plan programs which would be of benefit for their vocation.

During vacation as well as during the school year Mr. Willey could be found planning schedules for the next year. He taught the student to take on responsibilities and helped him to learn how to cooperate with the faculty and his fellowmen.

Vermund Andersen, junior high principal, helped students through vocational tests which acted as a basis for subjects in the years ahead.

Outside of school hours, Mr. Andersen took an active part in furthering activities of the Cedar Valley Area Council of the Boy Scouts.

And Behind The Scenes

Our school board, the official representatives between school and community, efficiently guided the growth and development in the complex system of the junior-senior high and elementary schools.

Composed of six members, the business and professional men were elected for a term of three years, with two members coming up for election each year. Having a continuous body, there were opinions of experience and also additional and varied ideas of the newly elected members to the board.

As each year passes one more milestone is added to the gigantic constructions in furthering knowledge of students in the several preparatory courses. More are added when thought to be purely beneficial to the students in the future.

During this year the board worked on plans for a new elementary school to be built on the North Side and also the possibility of a need of a junior high there. Another important project was lowering the cost of lunches in the high school cafeteria.

This day and age required of our school board the knowledge and skill that they will strive to understand and cooperate with persons, activities and institutions which they contact in school, community, state and union. Through these leaders achievement attained over a period of years is tremendous.

They hold the fate of our school and its students in their hands with an eminent trust to fulfill. The success or failure of every individual in our school system depends on their decisions of courses offered.

Elinor Norgaard, Harriet Nelson and Irene Phillips, secretaries to Mr. Andersen, Mr. Willey and Mr. Halverson, respectively.

English students study everything from spelling to letter writing and the classics. In grades seven and eight, literature, punctuation, letter writing, speech, library and grammar are emphasized. Senior high English classes try to promote better habits in both oral and written composition while the aim of speech class is developing self-confidence and poise in the student's social relations.

All social studies classes study and analyze the current events in belief that better understanding will bring peace. American history is a required subject for all juniors. By learning about it, we better appreciate our glorious heritage. A course in world history is also offered. Civics classes study our world. Students also study the various types of government under which man has lived and still does.

Junior journalists spend the first semester in learning how to publish the AH LA HA SA and how to assume the responsibility of it. The seniors, meanwhile, edit the paper and work on the yearbook. The second semester the juniors take over the paper, leaving the seniors to concentrate on the TIGER. There is also a junior high journalism class.

To prepare for future jobs many students take a commercial course. Typists learn proficiency in the touch system. Stenography students master shorthand the first year with secretarial training the second. Balancing accounts plus solving profit and loss examples are the future bookkeeper's problems.

To make girls of today better homemakers was the aim of the Home Economics department.

The curriculum, which includes clothing, buying, preparation of meals, budgeting, child care, home nursing, home furnishing and construction, was designed to improve and develop home life and make opportunities to girls who go into homemaking fields.

Industrial Arts students brought forth articles ranging from a living house to cookie cutters made in their course this year.

Radio fundamentals and construction of one, two or five tube radios was the accomplishment of the radio and electricity shop students.

A permanent vocation for students who do not intend to go to college after graduation was the job of Norman K. Bailey and the diversified occupations class. Students were employed in various business establishments in the city.

Under the auspices of the agriculture class and Donald Paulson rural boys will be better farmers for tomorrow. Agricultural classes provide an over-all view of the general field of farming.

After studying price fluctuations they have knowledge of common problems of buying and selling. A good farming background is received after judging the chief good and bad points of all livestock.

One of the main aims of the language department was to help students know their neighbors better by understanding of their customs, environment and, of course, their language. Spanish and French students accomplished this by translating stories and plays. In the Latin department special stress was laid on the conjugating of verbs, as it is a basis for all of the other languages offered to students.

No matter what time of day one happened to stroll through the halls of Albert Lea High School, he was almost certain to hear one of the music groups practicing. Including the choruses, bands, and orchestra, this department made a fine showing at assemblies, games, dances, the music festival and special concerts. The band was prominent in parades.

The work done by the art students could be seen throughout the school and in business places uptown. Typical phases of their work included sketching, oil painting, posters and tinting. A special class for senior high students was started this year. Their special projects included designing covers for record albums and folios for their work. They also did portraits and still life paintings in oil.

Physical education was taken twice weekly by sophomores and junior high students. The juniors and seniors substituted one of the periods for a course in health or first aid. The gym periods offered practice in competitive games, social and old time dancing, calisthenics and other recreations.

In Classrooms and Out

Mrs. Sund takes Lois Jean Reed's pulse and temperature.

Demerit system of tardiness was introduced into the high school this year. If a student was tardy more than twice in a nine weeks period they explained the reason before a faculty committee. Under this system, cases of tardiness declined.

Miss Gammell is in charge of the attendance records for the 766 senior high school students. Daily attendance remained on an average of 94 percent. The usual snow storm failed to show up this year which excluded the bad weather excuses.

The number of students to drop their high school courses reached 27 during the first semester. However this is low as the usual average is 45 a year.

Mrs. Helen Sund is in charge of the health of the public schools. All students were given a hearing test in their free hours.

Through vaccination, eye examinations, inspection of students and first aid, Mrs. Sund has contributed to the advancement of health.

They Maintain Our School

To maintain the junior and senior high schools a maintenance staff is employed. This staff consists of janitors and engineers who keep the school clean and warm and in good condition. During the night a watchman keeps a continuous guard over the property.

The engineer is responsible for the mechanical layout of the school while the firemen have the job of keeping the building at the correct temperature.

The janitors do everything from sweeping floors and cleaning the blackboards to sawing open broken locks for the students. Each janitor is assigned a specific part of the school to keep up. During vacations they do such work as repainting rooms.

The cafeteria workers had a big job. Not only did they have to plan and cook nutritious food with the correct calories and vitamins but there were also three separate meals served each day.

Junior high started the day with their noon hour at 11:30, followed by Lincoln at 12:00. Senior high finished the periods at 12:30. Lunch for 100 pupils was also prepared and sent to Ramsey each day.

A new program started on February 7. For the first time, with the help of federal aid, plate lunches plus milk cost students 15 cents. Formerly the plate lunch was 15 cents and milk seven cents extra. Milk and side dishes were still extra, however.

Discussing problems of the cafeteria are Mrs. Cora Hutchinson, Mrs. Amy Evenson, Mrs. Lucille Tollifson, Mrs. Minnie Wagner, Mrs. Ben Loeffler, Mrs. Wayne Seath, Mrs. Susie Cady, Mrs. Alice Anderson, Mrs. Hulda Wallin, Mrs. A. L. Hove and Mrs. Mable Crynes, cafeteria supervisor.

SCHOLARS

To Those Who Learn

Cheer the classes loud and long,
Hail them with a lusty song,
Behold this happy, carefree throng,
Who put each others' locks on wrong.

For the seventh, the eighth,
The ninth—Hooray!
Oh, lucky them—they have Play Day.

And for the sophs,
We'll dance a jig.
In biology they
Disect a pig.

The juniors deserve
A pat on the back.
To raise prom money
Their brains they must rack.

The seniors? Give them
Your noblest esteem.
For social, they write
A 1000-word theme.

And to the other classes
The seniors look back,
With many a tearful glance.
At the happy, carefree life they leave
To "Pomp and Circumstance."

Light Hearted Seniors Put

Their Best Foot Forward

To the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" some two hundred and sixty seniors, clad in the traditional caps and gowns, entered the high school auditorium as high school students for the last time.

They have come a long way since they first entered as sophomores in 1946. They have gained three years in age, maybe a few pounds, and have stored up a vast amount of useful knowledge.

Beginning their careers, they elected George Vander-mate, president; William Chase, vice-president; and Mavis Augustine, secretary. At the class party, the big event of the year, Geraldine Parks and Robert Dalhen were elected queen and king.

Proving themselves a very active as well as talented class, the group presented "Spring Dance" as the junior class play. They excelled in journalism, drama, music and sports, even pulling the seniors through the creek on Hobo Day. After weeks of work, worry, and fun, they entertained the seniors at their first prom.

Robert Dolan, junior class president, worked with Elisabeth Ehrhardt, vice-president; Pauline Hansen, secretary; and Mary Everson, treasurer; to lead the class through their happy days as juniors.

At last, the longed-for goal was reached—they were seniors, the leaders of the school. The senior class play, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," highlighted the year. They took part in the all-school play, Tigers' Roar, music, WPA Week, and sponsored a class party for themselves. They took an active part in the Homecoming festivities, not only by having Queen Joann Helleksen to inspire them, but also in playing the big game and making floats.

Officers of the forty-niners were Richard Botz, president; Donald Renslow, vice-president; Gloria Fink, secretary; and Elaine Knutson, treasurer. Egil Hovey acted as the class advisor.

All through their lives these seniors will remember their days in Albert Lea High School—they can never forget. They will remember the change from junior high to senior high, how they were a trifle scared, but too proud or just plain terrified to ask directions of the upperclassmen.

They remember as juniors how they realized that the time remaining in Albert Lea was not the everlasting six years of before, but an all too swift two years. As seniors the desire to make the last year the very best spurred them on. So successful was the year, they were a little reluctant to leave.

Onward and upward they'll go, with their heads in the air, dreaming air castles, and their feet on the ground, realizing these dreams.

L. J. Lilja, Kiwanis Club, explains vocations to Harlow Sorenson, Marlene Dale, John Nepp and Rosalie Hanson.

Honorarium

Mavis Augustine and Royal Hayden received the American Legion awards of good citizenship on Honor Day. They were chosen by the students and the Legion Auxiliary to inspire the other students toward the qualities of honor, courage, scholarship and service.

Mary Everson was chosen to be this year's Daughter of the American Revolution representative. Mary took part in a two day convention in St. Paul as a part of the award for her all-around good citizenship.

An honor for nine senior boys, that of being a Junior Rotarian, was also awarded this year. Each month a boy who had been a leader and participant in school activities, and had the necessary quality of leadership, was chosen to attend the Rotary luncheon and inform the club of the activities of the school.

Two of the Junior Rotarians, Michael Duggan and Royal Hayden represented Albert Lea at the annual state Junior Rotarian convention in St. Paul.

Because of their outstanding scholarship, work and participation in school events, these students were hailed as some of the most outstanding graduates of the class of '49.

Chosen as the outstanding citizen of Albert Lea High School, Mary Everson was given the 1949 DAR Award.

Up-and-Coming Juniors Seek

Officers: Ila Grotenhuis, secretary; Charles Easter, president; Donna Nelson, treasurer; Richard C. Nelson, vice-president

Responsibility and Recognition

Gervaise Larson, Girls' State delegate.

Selected as the Albert Lea representative to Girls' State was Gervaise Larson. Active in A chorus, dramatics, art work and Hi-Teens, she showed herself capable of the honor that her classmates voted her. She was chosen for leadership, character and scholarship. Donna Nelson was voted Gervaise's alternate.

The juniors, as the middlemen of the senior high school, contributed to the school in every field of work and play, in their clubs and classrooms.

They studied American history, English or journalism, and other subjects such as physics, world history, Spanish, French, geometry, typing and short hand. Also available were courses in home economics, agriculture, mechanics and carpentry. Physical education and health were two other requirements.

Miss Blanch Benson, class advisor, gave valuable assistance to the juniors throughout the year.

Elected by the students to carry on the duties of class officers for the year 1948-1949 were Charles Easter, president; Richard C. Nelson, vice-president; Donna Nelson, treasurer; and Ila Grotenhuis, secretary. Their task was to start the plans for the prom.

Numerous projects were sponsored by the juniors to raise funds for the prom. A basket social, for juniors only; a junior-senior mixer, complete with a pie raffle and blind dates; and a junior-senior basketball game, which the seniors won 41-36; were among the projects. Also included in the money raising group, was the junior class play, "Huckleberry Finn", which was presented to the public on two occasions, April 8 and 9.

Not interested in only proms and parties, the juniors ranked high scholastically, as the election of ten juniors to the National Honor Society proved. The juniors were also active in music, dramatics, sports and Student Council work. Thus, the juniors proved themselves capable of becoming the senior class of 1950.

Ambitious Sophomores Plan

Officers: Jeanne Cady, president; Marilyn Hendrickson, treasurer; Nadiene Dale, secretary; Margaret Thompson, vice-president.

For Remaining School Years

Adjusting themselves to senior high school life was not easy, but the sophomores soon began to play a big part in student projects.

They found themselves with one less subject to cope with and thus had time for many more extra-curricular activities.

As their contribution to the Honor Society Carnival, each member of the class donated an article for the fish pond which was operated by sophomores.

The many acts for the 'Tigers' Roar coming from this class should assure some excellent productions in future years.

Music being one of their higher interests, Roland Green, Darrel Meuser, Roger Naylor and William Kuchera replaced graduated members of the swing band.

Dramatic ability was displayed by many students. The Christmas presentation included several sophomores with William Kuchera portraying Scrooge, the leading character.

Leading their classmates through a successful year, the sophomore officers carried out their task with friendly smiles and cheery "Hello's."

Receiving the popular student vote after filing for their respective offices were Jeanne Cady, who will long be remembered as the first "woman president;" Nadiene Dale, secretary; Margaret Thompson, vice-president; and Marilyn Hendrickson, treasurer.

Ready to assist with any problem or difficulty was their class advisor, Miss Alice Gammell.

Sadie Hawkins Day, being the biggest project of the year, started off with a "bang" at 3 o'clock on December 3 when girls trailed their current heart throbs to all corners of Albert Lea.

The climax came in the evening when "Dogpatchers" danced in a gaily dressed gym, decorated with comic strips and portraits of Sadie Hawkins, to the music of Harlan Knatvold's swing band.

Fines were levied on all characters found violating laws of good etiquette. Darrell Meuser and Ruth Overgaard were awarded prizes for the funniest costumes. This was the second such observance to take place in the Albert Lea High School.

Junior High Trains Students

Homecoming was the first of the successful highlights for the junior high. Using the slogan "100 yards, 100 years, 100 points, 100 cheers," the junior high entered 20 floats in the parade. Two of the 20 floats entered won prizes in the contest.

Trying their first dramatic wings, the junior high organized the Masquer's Society, under the direction of Miss Hildred Tennihill. "Buddy Answers an Ad" was one of their productions. The society also presented a play entitled "Ladies of the Mop" to the junior and senior high Drama Clubs and a radio script for the American Education Week.

1948 being a national election year, the junior high participated in their own election, which was patterned after the national campaign.

Students from the country registered in special rural wards. Election booths were located throughout the building, corresponding to the city's divisions. On November second, the day for election, the students voted, making Truman victorious.

One of the main attractions of the year was the junior high talent show. Keith Fligge, master of ceremonies, interviewed the students as they were called upon to do their acts. Twelve fine acts were presented, and later appeared as guests of the Honor Society Carnival in the high school auditorium. This show proved to be one of the main attractions.

As a Christmas project the ninth grade art classes planned and built the Nativity scene. Russel Esson, electricity instructor, supervised the lighting.

Adding something to the junior high that it has not had before was the ninth grade journalism class, which edits the new, printed Junior Hi-Ways. It is a complete two-page paper which is distributed to its subscribers every month.

The former junior college is now the teen-agers' recreation center and was open to junior high pupils on Tuesday evenings. Pastimes included dancing, ping pong, dart throwing, checkers and other forms of amusement. Participants of the Golden Gloves practiced evenings in the boxing ring that was set up in the basement of the college.

A semi-formal freshmen party was held, November 26. The girls attired in formals and pretty frocks looked very pretty with the corsages from their escorts. More than 25 couples came to the affair.

For Duties In Future Years

To start the year, the whole junior high elected four freshman officers to the Student Council. Besides electing officers, the junior highers elected Student Council homeroom representatives.

The freshmen were very active in their roles as the upperclassmen. They presented an amateur program at the Honor Society Carnival and some of the acts were used in the 'Tigers' Roar.

A new Drama Club under the direction of Miss Hildred Tennihill, presented many plays. The freshmen were instructed in forms of drama, preparing them for the stage works in senior high.

JUNIOR HI-WAYS, published by the Junior high journalism class, was the first printed paper to be put out by the junior high students in connection with the AH LA HA SA. The class, consisting of 36 ninth graders, met three hours a week in 113 P.A.

One of the highlights of the year was the mock election conducted by the ninth grade social classes. Throughout the junior high were voting booths on November 2. It was identical to the national election in having precincts, wards, etc. Also all the students had to register. On November 3 the results were announced, and to quote Mr. Halverson, "As the junior high goes, so goes the nation."

The freshmen had a great sports year. The main events were placing two members on the B and A reserve basketball teams and four on the B football team. There was a big turnout for all sports.

With the fun comes the studies. The wide range of subjects they had were business, English, home economics, physical education, algebra, science, Spanish, Latin, band and agriculture. Now an about face can be made as the freshmen look forward to the future and senior high.

Keith Fligge, Student Council president; Gerard Thorge-son, vice-president; Cleo Nelson, treasurer; and Marion Yeomans, secretary.

Singing in the junior high talent show were Mavis Jacobson, Mavis Parks and Cleo Nelson.

Climbing higher on the ladder of education these students have reached the eighth rung. They do not, however, spend all their time in learning English, math, science and various other subjects.

They also spend some time on extra-curricular activities such as Photography Club, Art Club, Drama Club, sports and Homecoming.

Not only extra-curricular activities but other forms of recreation occupy a lot of their time. Winter sports, hikes, picnics, slumber parties, homeroom parties and having that coke with the gang uptown after school are only a few of many.

This year the students had the privilege of having a guidance department. The supervisor for the eighth grade was Miss Marjorie Hanson. The purpose of this highly recommended department was to help solve educational and vocational problems.

On Hallowe'en the junior high girls and boys attended a party in the girls' gymnasium and Edgewater Park, respectively. The evening for boys and girls was filled with games and refreshments.

Not only taking interest in themselves but also in other people and nations in the world, the eighth graders helped fill boxes for children in Europe.

When arithmetic, language and nature were suddenly changed to mathematics, English and science, the incoming seventh graders realized they were starting a new era in their education.

The biggest problem for the seventh graders was to acquaint themselves with the strange ways and subjects. To help them along this line was Miss Mettam, seventh grade guidance teacher.

Drama, photography and art were some of the clubs that provided extra-curricular activities. Band and physical education also added new interests.

One of the finest advantages of the newcomers to junior high was the library. Many free hours were spent in reading or finding extra help in the large selection of books. Current newspapers and magazines kept the junior highers posted on latest news events. Miss Carol Eastwold supervised all work.

Those interested in the work of the librarian assisted during the lunch hour and their free hours.

With the closing of the school year the seventh graders could look forward to the next five years—the happiest of their lives.

PARTICIPANTS

To Those Who Serve

Our school days were filled
With many an organization.
They were, as much as anything,
A part of our education.

Yes, good grades are important,
And extra credit great—
But from the work you put in those,
Only you can compensate.

Now I'll admit you benefit
From all the clubs and such,
But you're also helping others—
Even though it isn't much.

Perhaps this vague theory
You never may see,
But I'm sure with this last part
You all will agree—
Tho' sometimes we didn't get very much done,
Organizations were still lots of fun.

IN CONGRESS, July 4, 1776.
The unanimous Declaration of the thirteen united States of America.

When in the Course of human events, it becomes necessary for one People to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the Powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all Men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. — That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, — That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, in such a Case, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient Causes; and accordingly, we have suffered the longest Sufferance under them, for many Years together; but now it is time to part them, whereby we have been obliged to declare that we are free and independent States, that we have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, enter into Commercials, and to do all other Acts and Things which Independent States may of Right do.

Student Council Sets

Under the leadership of Jerry Edwardson, the 48-49 Student Council supported an eventful year of student activities including conventions, dances, stage productions, and the annual Hobo Day.

With homecoming came the first large responsibility of the council. Plans for the parade, publicity, coronation, and the dance—handled by committees chosen from this group—were centered around the theme "100 yards, 100 years, 100 points, 100 cheers."

Early one morning in November the council left for Mankato to attend the Big Nine Student Council convention. Jerry Edwardson was discussion chairman for the award system committee.

The Tigers' Roar production, under the direction of Margaret Blunt, Marlys Hoyt and Dick Botz, was held January 29 and 31. Don Renslow "emceed" and Norman Sebersson was the soda jerk at the "Tigers' Den," the after-school hangout for the students. The entire school presented a great variety of acts.

Example for School

Part of the 'Tigers' Roar was taken to Austin for our exchange assembly with them. Austin presented their assembly here January 13 with the high school chorus, a high school-junior college boys' quartet and a girls' string ensemble participating.

The Christmas tree that adds a festive touch to the holiday season was in its usual place on first floor with the addition of two outdoor trees.

Thus the Student Council has completed another memorable year with the following committees and chairmen under its jurisdiction: auditorium, Jerry Edwardson; elections and meetings, Cecil Varner; publicity, Joann Helleksen; parliamentarian, John Westrum; music, Joel Upin; guidance, Charles Malmer.

Junior Council Governs JHS

The Junior High Student Council, with representatives from all the homerooms, is the governing body of the seventh, eighth and ninth graders.

Meeting every Monday, fifth hour, in room 102, the council is advised by Miss Dorothy Anderson. Members are elected twice annually to allow more students a chance to participate.

Some of the projects that have been undertaken during this year are the sponsoring of the first sunlight social and the Have-a-Heart drive in the junior high school.

An annual project, Student Day, during which the pupils take over running the school was held this year, March 2. A mayor and city council were elected in addition to a principal and student teachers who were chosen to take over the classes.

Officers who were elected last spring to serve this year are Keith Fligge, president; Gerard Thorgeson, vice-president; Marion Yeomans, secretary; and Cleo Nelson, treasurer.

Representing the qualities of scholarship, leadership, leadership, service and character, the Albert Lea High School branch of the National Honor Society conducted two initiations during the school year.

In order to be eligible for membership, students must have maintained a 2.75 average scholastically and must have excelled in the other requirements. Seniors were initiated at both spring and fall ceremonies while juniors received the honor only at the initiation in the spring.

More active during this year than ever before, the Honor Society supervised a Community Carnival to raise money for various organizations and the year-book, as well as sponsoring the annual Have-a-Heart Drive which combines most of the drives for funds that ordinarily would be made during the year.

Officers for 1948-49 were Elisabeth Ehrhardt, president; Mavis Augustine, vice-president; Helen Miller, secretary; and Betty Muldown and Mary Everson, who served as co-treasurers.

Drama Club Divides Talent

Around the circle are the various committees that have helped Miss Ardella Grier, the sponsor, establish greater interest in the dramatic arts by assisting the production of the Junior and Senior class plays and a number of one-act plays.

The entire Drama Club met every two weeks, with the different committees which composed it reporting on their accomplishments and plans.

The members of this club strived to gain enough points to become members of the National Thespian Society by acting and working on production.

Ladies' Aiders

The purpose of the Hi-Teens Club was to promote friendliness among all the girls; to develop their character, leadership, personality and capability; to render service, and to create a high standard of ideals for themselves and the high school.

Again this year packages were sent to Graz, Austria to the needy children of their school. Also sent were health supplies such as soap, toothpaste, and other badly needed items.

They showed their originality and initiative by entering a float in the Homecoming parade and staging a pep assembly for the Winona-Albert Lea basketball game in the middle of January.

Many children's hearts were lifted at Gillette Hospital for crippled children in St. Paul when they received stuffed animals made by the members at Christmas time. The girls also made favors for patients at Naeve Hospital at Easter season.

Meetings were held once a month and programs were planned for each meeting such as "How to style hair for teen-agers" and "Correct clothing for the high school crowd". Speakers informed on these topics were invited as guest speakers.

Most projects mentioned heretofore were planned by a representative council composed by two girls from the senior, junior, and sophomore classes who were chosen by the members at an early meeting. The council met every second Tuesday.

To enable students that are especially interested in science to work more on projects and assist in laboratory work was the purpose of the Science Club.

The first project for the club to undertake was a field trip through Wilson Packing Company. An inspection of the Naeve Hospital, including the new wing, was another field trip during the year.

Student who have a "B" average or above, and who have successfully completed one project, belong to the Minnesota Junior Academy of Science. They had their meeting on April 23 at the University of Minnesota, at which time their projects were displayed.

Big Island proved to be an excellent excursion ground for the club throughout the year. Several trips were made to collect various types of plants and animals for use in the school laboratory.

Miss Olive Johnson, who taught in Boulder, Colorado last year as an exchange teacher, was advisor. Curtis Engbritson served as president; Lowell Barr was vice-president; and William Kuchura acted as secretary-treasurer for the group.

Hi-Y's Maintain

"I ally myself with the nationwide Fellowship of the Hi-Y by accepting the purpose: To create, maintain, and extend, throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian Character." This is the pledge taken by Hi-Y members.

The senior boys met Wednesday evenings with their advisor, Forrest Willey. Indirectly, the Hi-Y is affiliated with the YMCA, directed by J. M. Snyder.

Owatonna was host to the district Hi-Y convention held early in the fall. Delegates saw movies on the alcohol problem and engaged in round table discussions on current social problems.

One of the most commendable projects of the year was the encouragement to Alden boys in starting a Hi-Y Chapter of their own. The Beta group also distributed donation containers for the March of Dimes.

Hi-Y boys have their share of fun too. After forming teams, they began round-robin basketball tournaments which provided a great part of the year's activity. Social events included a hayride to Big Island and an April Fool's party.

High Character

Orley Burgess, newly acquired junior high mathematics instructor, took over the leadership of the Gamma Hi-Y group this year.

The purpose of the group—the furthering of a high standard of Christian character—is coincidental with that of all Hi-Y organizations.

The regular meetings were held every Monday evening at 7:30 P.M. Richard Nelson presided, while Chaplain Charles Wulff offered benedictions.

Other officers elected for the year were Ivan Grotenhuis, vice-president; Jack Weeks, secretary; and Edward Forbes, treasurer.

A profit-making scheme was the selling of Christmas trees in collaboration with the Albert Lea Y's Men on a small commission basis. The boys also cooperated with the Beta Hi-Y in inspiring the Alden youths to form a chapter of their own.

One of the most "magnetic" activities of the year was the basketball tournaments. Boys not on the A.L. team had a chance to take part in the sport.

Through Service

With an eye toward the future, the Alpha Hi-Y attempted to establish a high standard of Christian character throughout the school and community.

Under the guidance of Egil Hovey, social science teacher, the Hi-Y members met bi-weekly on Tuesday evenings. This group of 17 sophomore boys succeeded in becoming a very industrious organization.

Several members of the organization attended the fall Hi-Y conference at Owatonna. Other activities of the club included the coat check stand at all the home basketball games to raise money for the club.

The club also participated in the sale of Christmas trees which was sponsored by the Chapter of the Y's Men and under the direction of J. M. Snyder. The profits from the sale went to the Camp Moraine fund.

Traveling to the National Hi-Y conference this summer will be some lucky boy from this group. With this program, the Hi-Y concluded a busy year.

Debaters Probe World Issues

Under the topic "Should the Federal Government Attempt to Equalize Educational Opportunity in the United States," the Discussion Club voiced their opinions at the Speech Festival at Rochester. Nine members of the club attended the meeting.

Another project undertaken by the club was the sale of basketball booster pins. This was very successful, for one thousand of these pins were sold in the junior and senior high schools.

Barbara Anderson and Elwood Reim were sent as representatives to last year's Minnesota United Nations Conference held in the legislative chambers of the State Capitol in Saint Paul. Along with students throughout the state, they studied the structure and duties of the United Nations. Reports were given by them about the conference to the history classes.

At the regular meetings, held in room 303 every other Wednesday after school, loud voices could be heard expressing their opinions. National, world, community and school problems were all discussed and debated during the year. It's not all work and no play, for a steak fry, held at Edgewater, brought the year to a very delightful close.

Miss Sebert served as advisor, as she has all previous years. Gayle Peterson presided as president while Nora Walsh acted as secretary-treasurer.

Completing its first year as an organization was the Art Club, under the supervision of Guel Dostal, advising art instructor.

Being a junior high organization, the club developed many various types of art work. Some of the many phases were wood carving, puppet making, posters, Christmas gifts and cards.

The Art Club's Homecoming float was one of the prize winning ones. Posters were their contribution to "Clean-up, Fix-up and Paint-up Week" as well as Courtesy Week. They also made posters to advertise the various school activities throughout the year.

The students arranged many displays that have appeared in the junior and senior high buildings, as well as in the business area of Albert Lea.

The Art Club was responsible for the stage craft work done for the Historical Pageant and contributed to the stage setting.

Filming, developing and enlarging pictures were just a few of the fundamentals in which the members of the Photography Club received training. The angles at which to take pictures and the timing of pictures also were studied during the year.

Composed of a group of senior high students, all boys, the Photography Club held its meetings every Monday night after school. They met with Russell Harding, organizer of the club, in his room which is located in the junior high building.

One of their outside activities was the taking of pictures of children visiting Santa Claus at the Tot Shop on Clark Street. You could find members of the organization selling hot dogs and coffee at all home football games during the year. This was another money-raising project for their organization.

The outcome of their money-making projects resulted in the purchase of a new flash bulb attachment for their cameras.

Classics Stimulate Latin Club

The Bubo (owl) Club, organized by Miss Clara Berdan, was composed of the members of the Caesar class. This group is made up of second year students.

When the occasion for a meeting arose, President Waldemar Storvick took over the duties of conducting the business at hand. Other officers of the group were Jack Brince, vice-president; Helen Janson, secretary; and Albertus Bratt, treasurer.

The Latin banquet on February 23 was the highlighting activity of the club for the year.

Enlarging the Junior Classical League by initiating ten new members was the purpose of a November meeting held at Susan Anderson's home.

In February, a banquet was sponsored by the Junior Classical League to which all Latin students were invited. They also attended a joint Albert Lea and Austin banquet held in the latter's school in April.

Officers for the year were Carolyn Ofstaas, president; Susan Anderson, secretary; and George Van Zyl and Marguerite Bergen, program chairmen.

Movie Club

Under the guidance of Irvin Volkman, the Audio-Visual Club has completed its third year as an organization formed for senior high boys.

Because it was limited to a membership of twelve, and few regular meetings were held, the club did not elect officers. Boys ran the projector during their study hours for various classes, at noon and also on special occasions after school hours.

They learned to cut records, splice film and run slide projectors. The occasion arose at the Honor Society Carnival for the Audio-Visual Club to display their knowledge of the operation of the projector by showing comedies to the public.

Maintenance of the film equipment was also a duty of the club. The walls of the audio-visual room are soundproof so as not to disturb the classes adjoining it when a movie is shown during the day.

Usherettes

Composed entirely of senior high girls, the Ushers Club was organized by Miss Clara Berdan to serve the school and the surrounding community. The ushers were on call for any program held in the high school auditorium if their services were needed.

Besides seeing that the students filled in all the seats for a school auditorium period, they also assisted for civic programs when reserved seats were used, such as the Cedric Adams Talent program and the Gateway plays, which were presented during the year. Also other groups which gave their programs in the auditorium used the services of the ushers.

Marjorie Reynen was the president of this all-girl organization and was the only officer elected from the group. Meetings were held once a month before school because of the many out of town members.

Miss Berdan first organized this club three years ago. Since then it has played a very important part in the smooth functioning of the school activities.

Swingsters

The pulsating rhythm of Harney Knatvold's Swing Band added the final finesse to the season's gay occasions. The breaking in of eight new members was an obstacle easily overcome.

In the dim atmosphere of the girls' gym each of the dances began to the strains of "Sorento" and ran until near midnight. The appearance of the band was much improved by the new stands purchased by the Student Council; individual lights eliminated the necessity of a brightly illuminated dance floor.

Winning first prize in the Naeve Hospital Benefit Show was perhaps the biggest thrill of the year. This entitled the band to twenty-five dollars cash and an appearance on Cedric Adam's Talent Show.

French Club

A growing interest in the French people stimulated the forming of a French Club toward the end of the semester. The eight students of the sixth hour language class organized the club with the purpose of examining more closely those customs characteristic of these foreign people.

Officers of the club were: Joanne Claybourn, president; Marjory Daw, vice-president; Marlys Hoyt, secretary; and Donna Christopherson, treasurer.

Meetings were held every other Friday with Miss Ruth Bauer acting as advisor. The vernacular of the common people was more clearly understood after the mastery of typical French dialogues. A worthy project was the sending of Care packages to France.

Gay Spaniards Hablan Mucho

"Bueno" and "por favor" became virtual by-words this year, as members of the Spanish Club introduced their vast vocabulary throughout the senior high school. Aided by numerous English-Spanish puns, members were identified by such characteristic phrases as "por supuesto" and "muchas gracias."

El Club de Espanol took a three-sided form, combining the three second-year classes into one organization. Meetings were held during their various respective class periods.

At Christmas time, members enjoyed a typical Spanish celebration, complete with a play in that language, three "pinatas," which are bags filled with candy and nuts, and "Loteria," a Mexican form of Bingo. Spanish Christmas carols provided music.

Other activities included the presentation of a pep assembly before the Red Wing basketball game. Pseudo-Spaniards gave their interpretation of the North American championship game between Albert Lea and Red Wing High, Mexico City.

Miss Ruth Bauer, Spanish instructor, acted as advisor for the three divisions of the club.

Talking with Miss Alice Gammell in the attendance office, it was learned that there have not been too many tardy students as yet, with the senior high having a better percentage than the junior high.

Miss Gammell explained that the demerit system was adopted in hopes that the students will take more responsibilities upon themselves.

How do you like the prospects of mulling red-facedly to an eager jury? If you can be on time to all your classes, you won't have to worry about it.

The five minute period between classes affords ample time for everyone to arrive early, providing they agree to wait and exchange gossip over a cake—after school.

Thompson r Contest

"Give Who Gave", was the slogan used by Margaret Thompson, Albert Lea high school sophomore, on her poster which placed second in the state poppy poster contest.

After winning first place in the city competition, Margaret entered her poster in the district contest, where it also placed first.

A crutch with a cluster of poppies and her original slogan as a reminder of the war dead and afflicted, constituted the design for her winning entry.

ing papers of All-America were given the title of Pace-Maker. This title has now been discarded and an All-American rating is the highest honor given.

The Ah La Ha Sa has claimed this award for 21 consecutive years out of 28 years of publication.

An All-American rating is given to all papers excelling in news writing and editing, headlines and make-up, special features and typography.

To receive this rating a school must have more than 250 points. The Ah La Ha Sa had 1015. The issues were rated and judged as a bi-weekly, commercially printed paper with a school enrollment of 700 to 800. All the different classes of papers are judged separately.

Galley Slaves Publish News

Lights burned late in 113 P.A. as the AH LA HA SA and TIGER staffs slaved to put out their respective publications. Late hours, headaches and final near-perfection characterized senior journalists.

Placing special emphasis on the Homecoming, senior and Christmas issues, the AH LA HA SA staff won again the All-American Honor rating and state recognition for coverage of the Christmas seal campaign.

Publication of a yearbook revolving around a theme of "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" proved a major task for TIGER staff members. Pictures, captions, copy and ideas for make-up were ever-present in the minds of editors and division heads alike.

When financial problems arose, the business staffs came up with more and newer money-making ideas. Profits from the sale of student directories, refreshments at games, the National Honor Society carnival and student theater tickets all helped to bolster the funds for the two publications.

Conventions highlighted the year, as delegates attended the state meeting at Brainerd and the national conclave in French Lick, Indiana, learning of the latest in yearbook and newspaper trends.

Politics were present, too, when several staff members met each of two presidential candidates during their 1948 campaigns in Minnesota.

Junior Journalists

Taking over the AH LA HA SA was the big highlight of the junior journalists during the year.

As in previous years, December was spent drawing up and writing stories for the paper. The new staff was chosen from the results of these activities.

The first project of the year was the publishing of a Student Directory. The name, address and telephone number of every student was given.

This year the junior high journalists published their first printed paper, past years' being mimeographed. They met three times a week in 113 P.A.

Some Saw While Others File

A six-room house received the main attention of the construction crew this year. The house belongs to Sydney F. Schwartz, instructor of this Smith-Hughes carpentry course.

The material cost was furnished by Mr. Schwartz, while the boys received two credits for their three hours a day, but no pay was given to them.

Eight senior boys were enrolled in this course. The experience gained through their work will help them greatly in life and future years.

Helping Miss Mabel Rawlings, senior high school librarian, learning to choose good magazines and books and learning the proper care and handling of new books were the purposes of the Library Club.

The club members worked during their study halls, shelving and checking books, typing, writing out overdue slips for students and doing other tasks.

A few of the girls in this organization are training themselves to become actual librarians, but whatever they do, their knowledge will help them.

FFA Learns By Experience

Ever since its establishment in 1931, the Albert Lea Chapter of the Future Farmers of America has endeavored to develop leadership, citizenship, agriculture and cooperation among its members. The FFA represents an outlet for all boys taking agriculture.

One of the highest honors that a member of the FFA can receive is to belong to one of the five judging teams. Two of the teams, livestock and crops, placed third in the district and represented Albert Lea at the state convention. The other teams were dairying, poultry and poultry products, and meats.

Duane Steele and Norman Ruble attended the National Future Farmers of America Convention in Kansas City, Missouri, in November. Duane received one of the free trips donated by a railroad for outstanding work in the FFA. Roger Behle took first honors in the national corn growing competition.

Trainees Arm For Vocations

To produce employable citizens with ability to understand and interpret business situations and work harmoniously with people was the ultimate aim of the high school diversification class.

The main purpose of this class was to assist young workers in bridging the gap between the untrained worker and those more skilled.

Senior students who do not plan to attend college but were interested in learning some definite trade were selected for the course. Each week, members of the class spent at least 15 hours on their jobs.

Norman K. Bailey was the vocational co-ordinator of this class which was first introduced into Albert Lea High School three years ago. Two credits are given, for class work and time spent on the job.

On the job are Wilbert Johnson, Frances Bolinger and Marlene Wolff; Hardware salesmen are Robert Gregerson, Oyer Brua, Carlyle Pierce and Maynard Leschefske; Clerking are Lorraine Carlsen, Bonnie Huemoeller, Donna Gordon, Genelle Halvorson, Marlene Parks, Mary Jane Dunn, Philip Beaver, Beulah Peterson and Janet Prantner; Elaine Tuchtenhagen, Jean Blake and Geraldine Parks are office workers.

Chorus Puts

The first appearance of the Albert Lea High School A chorus was made at a public concert, November 21. The group was composed of 92 mixed voices.

Meeting every day, the chorus elected as their officers the following: Joanne Gamble, president; Charles Wulff, vice-president; Jeanne Katzung, secretary; and Lucille Wallin, attendance recorder.

During the year the A chorus participated in several public concerts. They gave a spring concert and, combining with the B chorus, presented a Christmas candlelight program. The chorus presented their annual Christmas concert for the combined Kiwanis, Rotary, and Lions Clubs. On May 6, the chorus journeyed to Owatonna for the annual music festival.

"Campus Daze," a two-act operetta, was given by the A chorus on February 26. This was the first operetta staged by senior high students since "HMS Pinafore," which was produced in 1945.

For the second year, a select group was organized, consisting of 22 members of the chorus. These Madrigal singers included in their schedule programs for the Lutheran Altar Guild, Travel Club, Hi-Teens and Minnesota Centennial Pageant.

Music Into Gay Young Hearts

Under the direction of Robert Myers, the B chorus, composed of 54 girls of the sophomore class, has had a very successful year. Anyone passing by room 014 on Tuesdays and Thursdays during first hour could hear the chorus going through their numbers.

During the year the B chorus participated in the Christmas candlelight concert which was presented December 13. The chorus also sang for Baccalaureate.

The chorus elected as their officers the following girls: Marjorie Hellie, president; and Marilyn Hendrickson, secretary-treasurer.

Even though the chorus did not participate in many public activities they were expected to learn their rudiments of music. B chorus is a training ground for the A chorus. Next year many of these sophomore girls will be given the opportunity to become members of Mr. Myers' A chorus.

Bands and Orchestra Provide

With seventy-five members, the 1949 Senior Band was occupied throughout the year in rendering their many services to school and community. Under the direction of Professor L. J. Emmons, the band spent much time preparing and giving two well-attended public concerts and leading several parades.

The band starred in the Fall Opening, Homecoming, and Centennial parades. They also demonstrated their marching ability at all home football games. The familiar pep bands at pep meetings and basketball games also came from the ranks of this group.

One of the major appearances of the year came on May 6 as the band ventured to Owatonna to attend the annual Big Nine music festival. This meeting was divided into massed concerts of orchestras, choruses and bands and individual performances by each.

As student director, Joel Upin took over the baton during the numerous pep band sessions.

A brass quartette composed of Joel Upin and Bill Kuchera, cornets, Roger Naylor, trombone, and Royal Hayden, baritone, entertained various organizations throughout the community.

Melodies To Hum and Whistle

Professor L. J. Emmons' largest Junior Band this year practiced a varied and interesting range of numbers to prepare themselves for their ultimate entrance into Senior Band. The class of sixty-three will form the center of future senior organizations.

All was not work, however, as the season found the young, white-clad band providing marches for junior high pep assemblies, parading in Homecoming and civic parades and jointly presenting a concert with the senior group. They also "got into the act" by playing for the drama club's three one-act plays.

A group of thirty musicians made up Mr. Emmons' first orchestra this year. They met daily during the first period to practice for their many engagements for musical interludes. Activities during the year included playing for all school plays, the Christmas concert, senior high operetta, and traveling to Owatonna for the Big Nine Music Festival.

Special recognition came to Darrell Larsen and Carol Emmons, who journeyed to an all-state orchestra meeting. Jacqueline Johnson, Luella Reed and Cleo Nelson attended a string clinic at Mankato.

ATHLETES

To Those Who Bring Glory

The first sport in this section
Is football.

(So we lost a game now and then)
It's still a great sport, plenty
Rough, plenty tough—
The game of the real "he-men."

And next comes the fabulous
Game of the Court.

(Not tennis, silly, an indoor Sport.)

Basketball—where you give the
Ref a sharp retort,
In return get a technical on
The scorekeeper's report.

And of course there're the wrestlers
With "grunt and groan" stuff.
From the looks of their muscles,
They, too, can be tough.

And never forget—for a sport de femme',
There're always the shapelys of GAA.

A Squad Gains Experience

Captain Cecil Varner receives the Lions Club Player of the Year Award from Coach Paul Wilke.

Although endowed with much promising material, the Tiger gridders couldn't seem to roll this year and absorbed beatings in six out of seven contests.

Owatonna issued an indication of what was to come as they walloped the Bengals in the opening tilt, 19 to 0. The win over a weak Faribault eleven the following week stimulated the spirits of players and fans alike. However, five straight defeats were in store for the squad as Mankato, Rochester, Austin, Red Wing and Winona each added lickings.

Austin was picked for the Homecoming game, but the powerful Packers, led by Weiss and Shipe, made easy work of the playful Cats as they flashed to a fast, well-deserved, 18 to 0 triumph.

Dick Nelson, left-halfback, was chosen captain of the '49 eleven during the football banquet at which Bernie Bierman, U. coach, gave the main address.

A's and B's Shine On Gridiron

Head coach Paul Wilke and backfield coach Rene Wambach work out plays for the 1948 season.

Coach Roy Maas had no lettermen to work with when he formed his Baby Bengal squad but that didn't prevent him from organizing a team which pulled through the season with a better record than their big brothers. The Cubs won two while losing three.

The first two contests developed into routs, with both Alden and Freeborn A squads whipping the young Tigers by the same score, 26 to 0. Austin B team was next, winning on their own field, 19 to 0.

By this time the gridders were becoming seasoned and tripped Austin in a return match, 7 to 0. After their taste of victory, the Tigers were not to be denied and won over Owatonna by the same margin of 7 to 0 in the last B game of the season.

Standouts in play during the year were quarterback and captain Larry Hinman, and fullback Andy Sanders. The latter was promoted to the varsity team in recognition of his powerful line thrusts.

Luther Olsen, social studies instructor from Iowa, aided Maas by assuming the duties of assistant coach.

1948-'49 Basketeers Outwit

Four losses against 14 wins. That's a pretty good record for a team in the stiff competition of Big Nine play. That record gave the '49 Tigers a second-place tie with Rochester, as Mankato gleaned their second straight conference pennant.

Even after starting the season with four successive victories, the Bengals weren't rated likely to succeed. However, Mankato became the fifth victim of their fast game and Lake Mills the sixth. Things began to look bright for the Cats.

Austin dampened the spirit with the Tigers' first but very decisive 52 to 34 loss. Northfield threw a scare into the quint but finally gave up. In the closest game of the year, the White Bengals dropped the Winona Winhawks out of first place. The overtime contest ended 41 to 40.

Rochester's huge floor stumped the boys and they came home on the short end of a 46 to 35 count. The next two games proved to be breathers as non-conference Waseca and Fairmont offered little competition. Little Blue Earth, after being thrashed 54 to 26 earlier on their home floor, found a hot night to upset the Tigers 39 to 37.

Blue Earth can be forgotten when we remember that the Bengals stopped Austin the next game, 31 to 30. Another fine performance was registered as Red Wing went down 49 to 41.

Mankato gained revenge on their home floor, taking the Cats' measure 49 to 42. In the last two encounters, the team "found" themselves and ran Minneapolis South and Faribault right off the floor. Austin finished any hopes in the district, 50 to 41.

Leading the Tigers attack were co-captains Roger Nash and Robert Dolan, who led in accuracy and total points, respectively. They were ably assisted by the Nelsons, Richard and Douglas, and Howard Hultgren.

Nimble B Squad Shows Might

A new combination of coaches led the B Squad to a record of 12 wins and six losses. Veteran coach, M. A. (Tommy) Thompson and a new mentor, Lou Olsen, pooled their efforts for a successful season.

Leading the scoring was a trio of freshmen, consisting of Clayton Westrum, Richard P. Nelson, and Leo Schultz, playing center, forward, and guard, respectively. The latter two were recognized for their excellent work and placed on the A squad. Frequently they thrilled the crowd in two games a night.

This year's schedule was one of the fullest in the history of the Baby Bengals. A mixture of conference and non-conference gave the boys much experience.

Leo Schultz secures a rebound against Hamilton and Marsh of Austin as Richard Johnson assists.

Golf and Tennis: Love-Birdies

Defeating Austin twice was the highlight of the 1948 tennis season. The netters also defeated Owatonna, but lost to Shattuck and Mason City.

Playing with depleted ranks the cherry and blue tennis team made a poor showing in the Big Nine tourney held in Albert Lea. The team finished last of the six competing teams.

Lettermen returning to this year's team will be Douglas Nelson, Harold Duffy, Thomas Whelan, and Gary Nelson.

The 1948 golf schedule was marred only with a defeat by Shattuck and a split with Mason City. In Big Nine competition the club-men had a perfect record of five wins and no defeats.

The club-men won the Big Nine meet at the Albert Lea Country Club and defeated Austin for District II honors but had to forfeit the regional crown after defeating Rochester on the Rockets' home course.

The outlook for the '49 season was good, as the squad was built around three lettermen, Clayton Westrum, Keith Fligge and Richard Johnson.

The cherry and blue wrestling squad completed a successful season in winning five out of nine matches.

The younger grapplers participating in B squad competition broke even, winning two for four attempts.

Coach LeRoy Maas' proteges participated in tournament competition, following the regular season. Finishing second to Austin in the sub-regional meet, all the Tiger grunt and groan artists but one went to the regional meet at Owatonna.

Owatonna accumulated 53 points to gain first place in the Region One wrestling tournament. Austin finished second with 33 points and Albert Lea followed in third place, with 28 points.

Captain James McKeown and Ben Fredrickson gained championship berths in the regional, in the 138 and 127 pound classes respectively. These grapplers, along with Darrel Lande in the 112 pound class, represented Albert Lea, February 25 and 26, at the state meet held in the University of Minnesota Field House.

The Tigers placed fourteenth among the 17 schools entered in the state tourney. McKeown placed third in his class while Fredrickson and Lande were eliminated in their first round bouts.

Under the direction of Coach Ralph Summers the 1948 Tiger baseball team split even in their six game schedule. Waseca, Red Wing and Faribault were downed during the season, while Austin, Owatonna and Northfield proved too tough and dropped the Tigers. In the district meet at Austin the Bengals were defeated by their old rivals, 5 to 0.

Under a new policy adopted by the State High School League, high school baseball competition was carried on during the summer months. However, this plan has been dropped and the sport will now be played during the spring months, as it formerly was.

Although Coach Summers lost six veterans through graduation, he had eight returning lettermen from which to build the 1949 squad.

The infield from last year's team was nearly intact. Bob Dolan, Jerry Edwardson and Jack Donovan held down key positions. Bob Spurr and Elwood Lande returned to the mound for the Tigers.

Three lettermen returned to outfield posts. They were Roger Rickheim, Richard C. Nelson and Carlyle Pierce. John Gonzalez, Dale Jackson and John Jeffers will also return from last year's squad.

Robert Spurr, 1948 letterman, will pitch again for the 1949 baseball team.

Gerald Edwardson, one of the leading hitters of last year's team, returns to the varsity this year as a letterman.

Tracksters Aim For Records

Thatcher Peterson and George Vandermate, 1948 lettermen, get pre-season practice in starting.

Joel Upin exhibits his form in running the low hurdles.

The 1948 track squad broke Austin's long string of district championships by capturing the title for the first time in 13 years. During the season the Tigers entered in meets held at Owatonna, Northfield and Rochester. The district and regional meets were both held at the Austin stadium.

Three school records were broken during the year. The 880 yard relay team, composed of Bergen, Buley, Dolan and Mangskau, was clocked at 1:38:2 and Joel Upin traveled over the 200 yard low hurdles in 24.5 seconds. Dale Mangskau shattered a 17 year old mark with a time of 22.9 seconds in the 220 yard dash.

Although Coach LeRoy Maas had only four lettermen returning from last year's squad, the outlook for the 1949 season was fairly bright. A large number of good prospects returned from the 1948 cinder team. They were evenly sprinkled throughout the various track and field events.

Two of the returning lettermen, Bob Dolan and Joel Upin, represented Albert Lea in the state meet held last spring. Dolan was entered in the broad jump and Upin in the low hurdles. George Vandermate and Thatcher Peterson, the other returning lettermen, were entered in the 880 and 440 dashes, respectively.

Girl Athletes Gain Perfection

Good sportsmanship, physical skills in the various sports activities and just plain fun were the goals of the Girls' Athletic Association, under the leadership of Miss Geraldine Ryberg. She was assisted by the GAA officers: Marjorie Peterson, president; Nora Dolan, vice-president; and Joan Harty, secretary.

Softball, volleyball, bowling and soccer were the chief activities, with basketball the main event of the year. Elisabeth Ehrhardt served as basketball sports head with Marlys Hoyt, Joan Harty, Nancy Nepp and Shirley Kouba as team captains.

Bowling, which previously was not considered a regular activity, became the favorite among many GAA'ers. Team names and captains were chosen as follows: Spitfires, Diane Gilpin; Flying Tigers, Betty Thompson; Thunderbolts, Kathleen Flesche; Hellcats, Marion Helland; Mustangs, Gayle Egge; and Hedge Hoppers, Joan Harty.

In Many Sports and Activities

Kittenball, basketball, tumbling and dancing were a few of the activities that girls' physical education included. A part of the physical education course, a health class, was given for nine weeks.

Miss Ryberg, determined to give the "A.L." shuffle competition, instructed the girls on how to waltz, rhumba, tango and fox trot. The main sport in gym, as in GAA, was basketball, with teams from the various classes playing off for the championship.

Parriot, unable to go to Minneapolis for the championship bouts, designated Moore to replace him. David made a good showing by winning his first bout. He lost the second by a close decision.

Bowling in a special league, as part of the intramural program, many boys have become proficient in forgotten sport. Howard Olson, Roland Johnson and Gary Smith had the highest averages of the year.

At the annual Lions' Club football banquet, Richard C. Nelson was elected 1949 captain by the members of the 1948 football squad.

PERSONALITIES

To Those Memorable Days

In October your homeroom
Planned a wonderful hayride
Which finally came off
As a hilarious sleighride.

"He" danced with you
After the Austin game—
So he stepped on your foot—
It was fun, all the same.

And how many turned the other
Cheek
When they got thrown in Wedge's Creek?

It was all the little things
Rolled into one,
That made our high school
Days such fun.

Yes, Homecoming, prom-time,
The senior class play—
We freely admit . . .
"Our hearts were young
And gay!"

Queen Joann

Homecoming

Riding high on the theme, "100 yards, 100 years, 100 points, 100 cheers," Queen Joann Helleksen and her attendants, Mary Olson, Ruth Aspenson, Pauline Hansen and Elisabeth Ehrhardt, reigned over the exciting Homecoming week-end.

The queen and her court officially started their reign at 2:00 p.m., Friday, October 15, in the high school auditorium. Acting as master of ceremonies, Jerry Edwardson, Student Council president, placed a coronet of red roses upon the queen's head following the administration of the oath.

Elected by the students as the outstanding senior girl, Joann has proven herself successful in service as well as character. She held a position on the AH LA HA SA and TIGER staffs as well as being pianist for the A chorus. Elisabeth Ehrhardt, treasurer of the Student Council, represented the class of '49 at Girls' State. Cheerleader Mary Olson helped to boost the pep of the students at games and pep assemblies. Being president of the Hi-Teens showed Pauline Hansen's leadership. Assisting in the senior high office took most of Ruth Aspenson's time.

Representing the four main fields of activities, Chuck Malmer presented dramatics; Keith Ingbritsen pledged loyalty of clubs and organizations; Dick Botz spoke for athletics and Arnt Pederson gave the support of the music department. Little Pat Dolan officiated as crown bearer and Marilyn Kaufmann added to the solemnity of the occasion with a solo.

Leading off with the centennial slogan, "100 yards, 100 years, 100 points, 100 cheers," the 1948 Homecoming season officially began. With school over for the day all that could be seen was a flurry of crepe paper and lost trucks and drivers. As usual nothing seemed to go right, but as the caravan rolled down Broadway, Roger Nash and Donald Renslow could well be proud of their work, for the spectators agreed that this was the best parade that they had attended.

As the parade passed before the judges, final selections were made. 4A P.A. received first prize of five dollars; their float featured a skunk and the slogan of "Skunk the Scarlets." Second prize went to 105 P.A., third to 302, fourth to 105 junior high and Art Club received fifth prize. Judges were William Sturtz, Ronnie Stephenson, Stanley Speltz, Ed Sletten, Ray Fossum, Lyle Ostrander and Russell Glenn.

Following the parade, Robert Dahlen and Annette Aitchison led the traditional "Snake Dance" to Spring Lake Park where the cheerleaders, student body and bonfire waited. Even as the bonfire burned low the pep of the students was so high that no one left and everyone yelled himself hoarse. Dick Nelson and Harold Duffy were in charge of getting the materials for the bonfire.

With the news of the queen disclosed, thoughts and enthusiasm of the student body and alumni turned toward the game with our old rival, Austin. The Donald Wong and Harold Houg decapitate an imaginary Scarlet; "Puff, puff! Toot, toot! There we go!"; Beverly Knutson swings a mean brush as she daubs out Richard Ochs and Neil Garrett; Busy as beavers are Violet Otteson, Ruth Young and Delores Schaeffer as they prepare for the big parade.

Dawn To Dark

numerous potlucks which preceded the game were events many will never forget. For the seniors it meant the last Homecoming that they would plan and work on. For the juniors it was the realization that next year would be their Homecoming, while for the sophomores it will have only begun.

The bleachers were packed with students, alumni and other sports enthusiasts. Everyone bought programs to see pictures of the team, coaches, Queen Joann and her attendants. Spirit was high as a thrill packed game was played before the eyes of 1500 spectators. At half-time the cherry-and-blue-clad band saluted Austin, our foes, by forming a huge "A" and playing their school song. Breaking ranks they marched in the formation of of an "AL" and played our loyalty song. A fanfare of trumpets announced the entrance of our beloved Queen Joann and her attendants in a sleek convertible.

Following the game, with spirits still high, the disappointed yet happy crowd wended their way to the armory where they danced to the music of Jimmy Smith, under a gaily decorated ceiling of cherry and blue streamers. Miniature Tigers prowled the walls, while happy groups sat around sipping cokes and talking. At one o'clock as the last strains of music died away only the sounds of happy retreating voices could be heard as they proclaimed this the best Homecoming in which they had participated.

The school spirit enfolds the crowd as they happily mill around the bonfire; Queen Joann Helleksen and her escort, Douglas Nelson, smile as the camera catches them ready for the next dance; A rose to the crowd as Queen Joann and her attendants, Ruth Aspenson, Elisabeth Ehrhardt, Mary Olson and Pauline Hansen, pass.

Pat Thompson, Algernon Johnson, '48 senior class president, Marianne Miller and Robert Dolan, '48 junior class president, lead the grand march; A sidewalk cafe crowd watches as dancers swirl by.

Promenading

One of the most precious threads woven in the rich tapestry depicting high school life was the Junior-Senior Prom. Hearts were certainly young and gay on that eventful eve in May, '48.

Hardworking Irene Ott viewed with just satisfaction the long rows of attractively decorated banquet tables. Later, as the room gradually filled, the festive mood was heightened by the pseudo-sophistication of excited upperclassmen. Following the banquet and after-dinner speeches, gay dancers ascended to the boys' gymnasium.

At the far end of the great room a famous eleven-piece orchestra—namely, Fats Carlson—settled down for action. Couples drifted to and fro laughing and discussing the banquet which had just concluded. Dancing in a "Showboat" dreamland, upperclassmen enjoyed the fruits of conscientious junior planning and long hours of preparation.

Setting the scene with a waterwheel revolving lazily in sparkling water and a yellow moon blinking knowingly on a secluded rose garden, co-managers Mavis Augustine and George Vandermate at long last breathed a sigh of relief—their task was over. They knew everything would run off smoothly from start to finish because of their exhausting preparations.

The senior class president, Algernon Johnson, escorted the junior class president, Robert Dolan, to the head of a long line of couples gathered near the door. Music—and thus began the promenade and an unforgettable social event of the year, the ball given in honor of the senior class by the juniors.

As the "Showboat" waterwheel turns, intent faces watch the floor show during intermission.

Daffy Dances

To climax the National Honor Society carnival a free dance was held in the girls' gym. The catch to the free part of it was a toll gate, situated a short distance from the door, which compelled all those desiring to dance, to pay.

Dancing in stocking feet to the music of the high school swing band constituted the traditional sock hop. Winners were chosen from the shoeless dancers who had the most decorative socks. This unusual event was sponsored by the Science Club.

The sophomore class, in an effort to raise funds for their class, revived "Sadie Hawkins Day". According to the hill-billy custom, this was the day when all the Daisy Maes chased their Lil' Abners. On the eve of December 3, the girls, worn by the chase, escorted their catches to the dance. Ralph Wedge, a townsman, acted as master of ceremonies.

Marlene Parks and Roger Nash reigned as Queen and King of Hearts at the annual Queen of Hearts dance. Cupids and hearts decorated the walls surrounding the gay and festive dancers. All money raised at the dance went to the Have-a-Heart fund.

"We have the prettiest socks." Beverly Huff, Betty Wright, Richard Nelson, Gloria Fink and Pauline Hansen; "Hold on tight, Rog!" King Roger Nash and Queen Marlene Parks; A Sadie Hawkins Day scene, "Marrying Sam", Darrell Meuser, looks on as "Daisy Mae", Ruth Camp, pleads with "Lil' Abner", Charles Wulff; she operates the toll gate, Evelyn Andersen, collects the fee from the would be-dancers.

Choristers Provide Chuckles

With gay songs and a festive campus for the setting, the "A" chorus presented a two-act operetta, "Campus Daze." Carrying the leading roles were Earl Sorenson as Spencer Goodnow and Ernestine Lindeman as Carrie Jenkins. The operetta was directed by Robert L. Myers, assisted in the speaking parts and dance routines by Miss Ardella Grier and Miss Geraldine Ryberg, respectively.

The scenes took place at Beetax College at the boarding house of Ma Jenkins, who was enacted by Helen Miller. It was at this house that the students gathered after their classes. Spencer, a student at Beetax, had become so far in debt he was able to free himself only with the aid of Porky, Robert Dahlen, and Fred, LaVerne Hoelscher.

Romantic interest was provided by the spitfire, Bobbie, Margretta Olson, and her antagonist, Tommy, Charles Wulff, who eventually became reconciled.

Carrie comes to Beetax College because an unknown aunt has agreed to pay all expenses, provided that Carrie spend her time with studies, not parties.

Holiday Play Portrays Scrooge

The "Christmas Carol" by Charles Dickens was presented by the students of the grade, junior high and senior high schools, Friday, December 17.

William Kuchera portrayed Scrooge, who thought that Christmas was a "humbug" until past, present and future Christmases were revealed to him by the three ghosts of Christmas. He then tried to right the wrongs he had committed by raising the wages of his employees and treating all with a Christmas spirit.

Visiting Scrooge, Robert Armstrong, as Marley's ghost, wore the chains he had forged in his crooked business life as Scrooge's partner. As Marley left he informed a frightened Scrooge that he was sending the ghosts of Christmas past, present and Christmas yet-to-be, played by Margaret Thompson, Kathleen Flesche and Margaret Blunt, respectively. These arrivals showed him scenes from his home life to remind a sorry Scrooge of his sinful deeds.

The incomparable Tiny Tim uttering the famous quotation, "God Bless Us Everyone," captured the hearts of the students. Jerald Stiles played the role of the small, crippled child.

Under the direction of Miss Ardella Grier, dramatic coach, the cast interpreted in an excellent manner the immortal story by Charles Dickens.

Marjorie Hellie consoles a tearful young Scrooge, Paul Krueger. The ghost of Christmas past, Margaret Thompson, watches Scrooge, William Kuchera, balance his books. The cast of the play included the dancers, the spirits of Christmas, the carolers, Bob Cratchit and his family, Scrooge and his nephew, Marley, Scrooge and his sister as young children, the fiddler, and Scrooge's housekeeper.

Senior Dramatists

Our hearts were truly young and gay the night of the senior class play, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay." On November 12 and 13, the double casts presented excellent performances before packed houses.

On Friday night, Alice Thuesen and Gayle Peterson portrayed Cornelia O. Skinner and Emily Kimbrough, with Donald Renslow as Leo and Norman Sebersen as Dick playing opposite them. This combination with their supporting cast turned in an exceptional performance and displayed real dramatic ability.

Another excellent cast showed their promising dramatic tendencies on Saturday night when Margretta Olson and Joann Helleksen capably lived the parts of Cornelia and Emily. Playing opposite them were Howard Hultgren and Richard Botz as Leo and Dick.

Scenes changed from aboard ship to hotels in Paris which were of typical Parisian style. The girls were a dizzy couple and their numerous adventures minus Cornelia's parents proved almost too much.

Because girls are girls and these were more unusual than most, they happened to meet two young American medical students and before the trip was over had managed to accept dance invitations to the Harvard winter prom. With this ahead, the girls left Paris and anxiously awaited their arrival home.

"Open Wide!" Richard Botz, Alice Thuesen, Donald Renslow, Gayle Peterson, Dale Jackson; "Oh, You ruffian!" Donald Renslow, Alice Thuesen, Gayle Peterson, Norman Sebersen; "Merci, mademoiselles." Loraine Fleming, Margretta Olson, Joanne Claybourn, Joann Helleksen; "What's wrong, Emily?" Margretta Olson, Joann Helleksen.

Junior Jesters

Comedy and suspense summarize the play "Huckleberry Finn" given by the graduating class of 1950. The play was written by Samuel Clemens, dramatized by Jane Kendall and directed by Miss Ardella Grier.

Tom Sawyer, portrayed by Jack Brince, came to visit his aunt and was soon involved in the mystery of the runaway slave, the witch pie and false uncles. Tom's Aunt Sally, played by Kathleen Flesche, had taken in Mary Jane, Joanna and Susan Wilkes, portrayed by Alyce Katzenmeyer, Judy Peterson, and Gervaise Larson, respectively, after their father died, and until their uncles could arrive from England.

Uncivilized Huck, enacted by Ivan Grotenhuis, had just completed a cruise down to the Mississippi River when he met up with the duke and the king. They had planned to pose as the uncles from England and get the money. The king was played by Jack Weeks and George Palmer and the duke by Darrell Wangen and Verly Heldt. These parts were double-cast.

Huck and Tom were able to expose the false uncles and thus save the Wilkes money. Dr. Robinson, played by Edward Forbes, attempted to save the money and also win the heart of Mary Jane.

Robert Mix, Austin student council president, served as Master-of-Ceremonies at the third annual exchange assembly. This exchange plan originated at a Student Council convention. The purpose of these assemblies was to promote better school relations between the two rivals.

The chorus, under the direction of Paul Heltnie, opened the program by singing a group of religious selections. Following this, a girls' string ensemble, composed of a cello, violin and a piano, presented two musical selections. A boys' quartet made up of two high school and two junior college students, offered a few vocal selections.

"Minnesota, Hail to Thee," was the historical pageant commemorating the state's one-hundredth territorial anniversary. The pageant was presented to the high school students in an assembly and an evening performance to the public.

The social studies classes of the junior and senior high school, participated in the dramatization of the important historical facts and events leading up to and through the Minnesota territorial settlement. Miss Miriam Johnson was general chairman and Charles Malmer acted as narrator. At the close of this colorful presentation the audience joined together in singing the state song, "Minnesota, Hail to Thee."

"And you shall have music wherever you go." The girls' string ensemble of M. Dougherty, M. Peterson, and L. Peterson. The quartet composed of Ronald Zillgit, Donald Leibenstein, Robert Mellum, Richard Reinhardt and Robert Mix.

Tigers Roar

Both "Tigers" and "Tigerettes" roared at the annual student revue presented, January 29 and 31.

Using the theme "The Tigers' Den," which was a soda fountain and typical high school hangout of any normal school day after three, Norman Sebersen as a soda jerk and Donald Renslow as emcee smoothly introduced the various acts.

Through the efforts of Marlys Hoyt, Richard Botz and Margaret Blunt, the acts were chosen and perfected. They were assisted by Miss Florence Schottler, Student Council advisor; Miss Ardella Grier, dramatic advisor; and Robert Myers, music director.

As the curtain opened and the hangout was revealed, Donald Renslow introduced the students as they arrived at the "Den." The students in turn presented their acts, which varied from solos and monologues to melodramas and tap dancing.

Some of the acts which were humorous and will remain forever in the minds of the students were Donna Christopherson's and Vera Kaushagen's rendition of "Life Get's Tee-jus," Symphony Singers, an act presented by Donald Wong, Charles Malmer and Laird Smith, and a driving skit in which James Threinen and Jack Greengo impersonated two woman drivers.

Musical numbers to be remembered by those attending were the swing band and "Johnson Rag;" Joel Upin playing "Rhapsody in Blue;" solos by Ernestine Lindeman, Dorothy Bolinger, LuVern Hoelscher and a sax duet by Arnt Pederson and Mary Everson.

"Too much for you?" Donald Renslow as emcee is served by Norman Sebersen, soda jerk.

"Daisy, Daisy, Give me your answer do." Earl Sorenson, Marilyn Kaufmann, Robert Dahlen, Mavis Augustine, Joan Norgaard, Charles Wulff, Julianna Blunt and Robert Armstrong; "Life Gets Tee-jus." Donna Christopherson and Vera Kaushagen; Hitch your wagon to a star. Laird Smith, Donald Wong and Charles Malmer.

Tug-of-War?

Hobo Day—the one day of the school year when you can skip school without a guilty conscience; when you can dress as you please, hobo costumes preferred; when you can play yourself out until you just drop exhausted to the ground, only to be picked up by your arms and legs by three or four muscle-bound males and forced to take a dip in the creek

For a change the weatherman granted us a hot sultry day instead of the cool rainy one so typical in the middle of May. At 11:00 sharp, the long awaited bell rang and everybody poured out of the building.

Since no cars were allowed, buses provided the transportation for those who wished to ride. The energetic class hiked by way of the railroad tracks and highway 13, or peddled their bicycles.

It wasn't long before the Student Council had set up the coke and hotdog stand. People's appetites were so ravenous that the luke-warm hotdogs, squashed sandwiches and warm cokes were gulped down with very little effort on their part.

BELOW: The latest style for men . . . pedal pushers and a sun-back shirt, Dale Jackson. You tell 'em, Orlie! Orlin Boyd (background): afternoon lunch . . . but which is the sucker? Marilyn Kaufman; Casey (Gayle) Peterson at bat . . . yer out!

ABOVE: A typical rush at the refreshment stand between events. Students clamored for service to satisfy ravenous appetites. BELOW: Heave ho! (But don't get your feet wet!)

It's Hobo Day

Soon Wedge's grove was literally littered with coke bottles, remnants of wiener buns, bread crusts, paper sacks, and kids standing, sitting and mostly lying around waiting for the events to begin.

Softball games provided entertainment for all in the open field. A little way off, volley-ball and pitching horse shoes were going at full tilt.

A little later every one grabbed a part of the rope that formed the ring for the wheelbarrow races, potato sack races and the egg throwing contest, watching the winners take all.

The greatest climax came when the juniors pulled the '48 seniors across the creek and won the Jug of War for the coming year. After that, it was run for your life or be thrown into the muddy water. Most chose the latter, glad to be cooled off.

No matter how tired, dirty and bedraggled the adventurers were, all looked forward to having a big time that evening at the Hobo Day dance.

I'm so mad I could spit! Lois Jean Reed, Robert McCornack, Joanne Gamble, Mary Ann Larson; Bombs away! Lois Jean Reed, Robert McCornack, Joanne Gamble, Mary Ann Larson, Mavis Augustine; Great expectations. Michael Duggan; i Por samor! Joanne Claybourn, Helen Miller; From behind those swinging doors, Marjory Daw; Here's mud in yer eye, Joann Helleksen; All that for one so young? Lois Jean Reed (and friend); D'em Gutterats. Carol Emmons, Betty Muldown, Marjory Daw, Alice Thuesen; A toast to Miss Grier from the senior play cast; Dead-eye Dicks. Robert Dolan, James Kortz.

Our Hearts Were

And now it's just about time to say good-bye to our dear old high school, the place that meant so much to us all during these last four years.

We'll never forget our freshman year—the co-recreational dancing classes—the freshman party—refereeing the games on Play Day at Abbott Field.

Then came our sophomore year—getting lost the first few days—our own B squad winning almost every game—falling down at the roller skating party.

Suddenly we were juniors—coloring history maps—the class play being a hit—our floor show at the prom—pulling the seniors across Wedge's Creek.

We know we won't forget our senior year—having our own Homecoming queen—a smashing Tigers' Roar—the sophistication of the senior tea—marching down the aisle to "Pomp and Circumstances" with that horrible yet wonderful feeling of graduation.

Yes, our hearts have been young and gay these short years we'll never forget them in the future.

It's too dark to study in the halls, young man, comfortable as it may be. Charles Wulff and Miss Blanche Benson; A major operation being performed by Warren Emmons; Let's not be coy at a time like this. Dick C. Nelson and Jeanne Cady; Kinda rusty? Joann Helleksen; Convention, maybe? French Lick Springs bound. Mavis Augustine and Helen Miller; Krupa's understudy—only he can't drum. Jerry Edwardson; Try and look natural, girls; You'll never win at that speed! (Hobo Day races) Miss Florence Schottler and Principal Forrest Willey; Haunted heart. Bob Armstrong and Bill Kuchera; So Tired! Roald Storvick.

*These pages are for autographs,
Those witty little cracks--*

*Not what people think about
And say behind your backs.*

*Some day you'll look back with misty eyes
At the truths that are written here.
(Also the lies.)*
